Effects of the Adoption of a Free Coinage Policy.

IT WOULD DESTROY CREDIT

And Produce the Most Disastrom Financial Disturbances the Country Has Ever Witnessed.

Covisoros, Ky., May 20,—The scere-tary of the United States treasury, Hon. J. G. Carliele, opened the discussion of the question of sound money here ta-night in a quaint lecture hall called Central Garden. The hall is in the middle of the beer garden. It is a theatur-like structure with a small stage at one end where the song and dance artists are wont to enliven dull hours. The rush to hear, the speaker was tremendous. An aitempt was made to reserve seats for ladies but it was given up when the re for admission to the hall was pressure for amount of the address was delayed by a street demonstration of considerable magnitude. It was 8.25 when the crowd at the doors parted and when the crowd at the doors parted and Mr. Cartisle, secorted by Congressman Berry and accompanied by M. E. Ingalis and General Michael Ryan, assistant United States treasure, outsered the lail. Shortly afterwards the work-dag clubs entered to the time of "Old Kentaeky Home" and "Dixie," followed by the plaintive, "Aud. Lang Syne." Frently minutes later Hon. A. S. Berry introduced the speaker in a brief speech, in which he paid a high complianent to the man who, under the most difficult electromatances, and fatthfully administered his high office. After translations applaines, again and again repeated, Mr. Cartisle began his undirease. Mr. Cartisle prefaced his remark with a brief introduction, in which he assured his audience "that I am not, and do not expect to become a candidate for any office in the gift of the people, or their representatives, and that I do not appear in the state in the interest of any candidate. "There has never been a time," con-

assured his audicine "that," an not, and do not experient become a multitate for any office in the ingit of the people, or their representatives, and that it do not appear to the extent of the property of the state in the intorest of any controlled the secretary, "since the close of the civil war and the settlement of the question growing out of it when passion and projudice exerted such a powerful full mene in controlling the action of the good on a property own to the whole industrial questions as they have during the secretary, and the settlement of the property own the whole industrial, connected and rether industrial, connected and interest of a clear and included in a continuous condition and rapidly growing and for a most invasities from the missing pools of a continuous condition and rapidly growing and for a continuous condition and rapidly growing and for a continuous condition and rapidly growing and for a continuous condition and clear and in the poperation, it and the controlled and restless people may have provided by law interest of a clear and in the poperation and clear and in the poperation and that question now confronts us. I am, therefore, in favor of the preservation of the casting standard of value with such use of full legal tender silver coins and paner convertible into ion on domand, as can be maintained without impairing or ondangering the purchasing or dolb tyaying power of the money and, in my opiniou, it is what is meant by an overwhelming majority of the opponents of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1. This is nother gold anough and that at one standard of measure of value shall be maintained, and that all forms of standard coins in the purchase of commodities and in the parkase of commo in the purchase of commodities and in the payenent of debts.

"How long do you suppose the $625,-000,000 of gold in this country would romain here and be used as money under a free coinage policy? The great financial institutions, which own and hold in their vaults much the greater part of this gold, would at once sel it at a large premium for silver—about $2 for $1, or they would exchange it for silver bollion in the market at the ratio of thirty-two pounds of silver for each one pound of gold—have the thirty-two pounds of silver to each one pound of silver of the cooping and with this chesp money pay the dominate of their depositors and other creditors. The masses of the people cannot do this, for they have no gold, nor have they any silver bullion to be coined at the expense of the people cannot do this, for they have no gold, nor have they any silver bullion to be coined at these pounds of the neutrino of a free colinge policy at the ratio of 16 to 1 would be to contract in currency to the extent of shoot $425,000,000 by the withdrawad of that amount of gold from circulation and from use as the basis of notes and other forms of credit, prices would not contraction would greatly reduce prices, because it would alarm the country, he stroy credit and nonbedly produce the most disastrous financial disturnances this country like only the server witnessed.

"Of course a great country like this, full in natural resources, would ulti-

what the government was using, whereas we now have shout $625,000,000 in gold and $397,625,873 in full legal tender silver, besides $87,000,000 in subsidiary silver coin. If, therefore, prices have fallen since 1873, the decline has taken place in spite of the fact that our full legal tender metallic money has been increased until the own amounts to more than seven times as much as it did at that date, and consequently the alleged decline in prices must be attributed to some other cause than the demonstization of silver. These facts prove not only that the demonstration of silver could be some other cause than the demonstration of silver. These facts prove not only that the demonstration of silver did not reduce the amount of redemption money in this country, but they prove also that the fandamental inrepairon money about for, if so, prices should have increased since 1873.

"As long as there appeared to be reasonable ground that silver could be residently and the silver silver the country of the trained to a party of value with gold at the ratio of life of ly the separate action of the Junied States i was willing to make the experiment, but I was providing for the free and unlimited coinage of aliver at that or any other ratio. The court decides that all that part of the act of March 28, 1895, which relates to justices and constables monthly compensation, is void and the auditor is instructed to draw warrants for the salaries of these officers according to the provisions of the country government act of 1893.

THE VALLEY RAILROAD

BIDS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FOR LOCOMOTIVES.

New Surveying Parties Will Start Next Week-One

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.-Bids for verks, and will be presented by the rolling stock committee to the board of directors of the San Francisco and San Josephi Valley road at its meeting to-morrow. The engines are to be of the first class, and the prices asked are said morrow. The engines are to be of the ireal class, and the prices used are said to be relatively low.

The survey committee of the Valley read met today and authorized Chief Engineer Storey to organize and equiption more surveying parties. The transam party, which worked down from Stockton to the Stanlstans river at Runneyville, has had to make some slight changes in location, but, on the other hand, has begun work in Stanlstans county. It will now work up the Stanlstans and Tuolimme rivers and more particularily examine the Tuolimme river between Waterford and Modesto.

From the last named point his new parties will start next week. One of them will probably work south from there to Fresno and the second from Fresno to Bakurefield, Vice President Walt says that several lines will shave to he ruley will be surveyed beyond Fresno, and that several lines will shave to he rule south of both Visalia and Hunford.

The directors were oable to obtain only an imperfect idea of the lay of the hard from the county reads, running at right angles, and it will require the work of engineers to determine what obstacles exist and how they may be surmounted before the route can be decided.

THE INCOME TAX

Decided to be Invalid and Unconstitutional.

DISSENTING

nonneed for the Law Changed his Attitude.

Washington, May 20. The income tax law which has received so large a share of jublic attention since the beginning of the regular assistent of the 53d energies is a thing of the past. After being twice heard in the United States supreme court, it was finally de-

States supreme court, it was many ac-cided today by the court to be invalid-and unconstitutional.

There were four dissenting opinions delivered in these cases today, one each by Justices Harlan, Brown, Jackson and White, showing that the court had stood five to four against the law. Inasmuch as one of these dissenting opinions was handed down by Justice Jackson, and as the court divided evenly on the ques-lio was absent at the first hearing when the court divided evenly on the question of sustaining the law on all points, except those as to the lax on incomes from rents and bonds, it follows that one of the members of the court who at first prononneed for the law, except on those two points, changed his attitude after the second argument.

There is very little question that Justice Shires is the justice who changed his views on these points. He made no innouncement either today or when the lirst opinion was delivered as to his opinion. While the opinion of the court today provides of the point of the second argument that the provisions of the law regarding the tox on rents and bonds are seen sees excluding a factor of it as to reader all other parts of its questions involved, he based the opinion of the court today proon the argument that the provisions of the law regarding the tox on rents and bonds are see seem tally a factor of it as to reader all other parts of it dependent on them, and in accordance with the well-known rule of law hearing on this question the law as a whole must be declared invalid.

The opinions of dustices Harlam and White went considered in language so vigorous, and were seemplatic in the arraignment of the majority as to cases very general comment. Both justices indicated their helid that the ruling opinion was revolutionary, and internationary and internationary and internationary and an exception of the consent of the parts of the property of the opinion. The commissioner's opinion is $35,000,000 or $40,000,000 would have been collected the first year from incomes hid the entire law been sustained by the court, and even after it had been shorn of the rent provision at least $15,000,000 and probably $20,000,000, the estimated, would have here collected. As soon as possible those persons who have already paid their tax will be notified that under the authority granted the commissioner by section 3220 of the revised statutes he will return all such moneys on application of the payees. Although today's decision of the court will naturally cut-down the anticipaled revenues of the government, it is not thought that it will necessitate an extra seasion of congress unless some unlooked for contingency arises. It is known that the administration does not regard an extra seasion are necessary, although the revenued during the summit have not been at all antifactory. The tustoms receipts particularly are surprisingly low. The defail for the fiscal year on January 31, 1855, was $42,246,830. On February 28th the had been increased to nearly $48,000,000, and on April 30th to about $415,250,000. The delicit, as stated today, was $51,043,584.

AN OLD MATTER REVIVED. Rev. J. H. Collins and the Congregational Churches.

The Los Angeles Times says that a the meeting of the Los Angeles Associa-tion of Congregational churches, held last week at Claremont, Cal., a resolu-

pregational church of Freene, and reading:
"Therefore, he it resolved, that this association is no longer responsible for J. H. Gollins' ministerial standing, and crose his name from the roll."
When shown the foregoing resolution last evening Mr. Gollins said:
"It is all news to me. I was aware of the fact that, following the Armenian trouble, charges had been preferred ngainst me, but was not aware of any trail having been set. Certainly I have never been notified of any. I am confident that there must be some mistake, as after considerable correspondence with the committee, to which the charges had been referred, I received a letter from a member of the committee, as $1895.

member of the committee, saying:

"March 28, 1895.

"Dear Brother Collins: The committee were not called together until vesterday. It is not my place to report the conclusion of the committee. I will simply say that in their judgment the affair had better not come to trial. I have sympathized with you in these severe trials. You must not let them overcome you or make you bitter. A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK.

The outlook for prolitable market for California farm and orchard products is very much better than a year ago. The wheat market is yet in a state of uncerto a desided improvement over last season, while the destruction by frost of the fruit crop in the principal hortcultiral centers of the East insures a largely increased demand for California fruit, both tresh and dried. Somewhat im-proved general conditions over the depression of last year will also enlarge the consumptive capacity of the recople, and if to these encouraging conditions are added improved facilities for shipare added improved facilities of single ment of fresh fruit, the grower can rea-sonably expect returns which will bring his account on the right side of the

The grange and lemon crop, now practicilly all sold, has brought prices averaging 30 per cont higher than for five years past, while under the business-like management of the new wine association the price of that product has already reached a fairly remnnerative lig-ure. The production of raisins is yet lacking a systematic method of market-ing, but improvements in that respect are likely to devolope before the crop is ready to go forward. The decided im-provement effected by the orange and wine growers in handling their products is conclusive evidence that better results can be brought about for raising if the proper steps are taken. For ten years proper steps are taken. For the years nest wine growing, except in a few isolated cases, has been unprolitable for the simple reason that there was no central, controlling agency to systematize the marketing of the crop. That has been chanced within a few months, and cessiers importers are now expressing their alarm because of the forward movement which has been given that domestic product. The same methods applied to raisins and dried fruits will effect similar results.

Altogether the farmers and trun-growers of California have reason to feel encouraged by the outlook. The ploom of last senson is giving way to decidedly better conditions and brighter pros-

OUR FESTIVAL SEASON,

Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, River side, Tulare, Healdsburg, Santa Rosa, Santa Oruz—there may be other California cities or towns that have in som manner had, or will have, a season of carnival this apring, but if there are such they are not remembered at this Nor do the names matter much, the notable point in this section being that never before in r history has California so given ber-ell to festivity and rejoicing.

It is pre-eminently fitting that she should do so. Nature herself has pro-claimed la fiesta for this favored state, and man has been but too slow in joining hands with her in her springtime gladness. However, it is unnecessary -ior it is only as a business proposition that we would discuss the place which springtime juyances should take in the affairs of this state.

California occupies a unique place in the Union. In the combined advan-tages of climate, scenery and varieties of products no other state approaches her. products no other state approaches her. We fancy that the average Californian does not fully realize how particularly favorable are his natural surroundings. Especially is this the case if he has reeided here many years. As men grow | so accustomed to the sunlight that its glory fells unheeded about them, so do se through the very plenitude of our elessings become indifferent to them, blessings become indifferent to them.
But, if we are indifferent, easterners are not; they read of our all-the-year-round climate, our varying and beautiful scenery and our wealth of semi-tropical products with longing to have a share in them. More of them would have come to dwell with us were it not for the library and their realizable tariffe. the all but prohibitive railroad tariffs existing between this state and the east. The statement is not mere specu-lation; it is un utterance of the under-lying thought contained in scores of let-ters which the writer has received from eastern friends. What follows for us if we would have our state populated as it should be? This: In overv way to advertise our resources and advantages until the argument for a visit or a reverbalance the argument against it in the eastern mind.

Herein is seen the practical side of the festival development in the state. La feeta is a time of genuins joy and cheer, but it is yet more: It is an advertisement to the world of the very things ontlay at such a time. This is the state of states, a royal commonwealth in itself. The climate and the products of semperate and semi-tropical zones are ours. In this respect we stand alone in the Union. One duty, then, devolves upon Californians: To make our glories known. The ways of doing this are many, but among them all is none more pleasing, more attractive or more nor pleasing, more attractive or more facilities and the product of uniting with nature in the festival time which also brings to us with each ancoming year. La flesta should be uniquely the product of the plants of the product of the plants of the product of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the regular style, and there she is, enabled the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the plants and specifications. Suddenly the thought strikes and the skirt of the plants and specifications, the wearrer first must be skirt on over her head in the plants and specification with the skirt on over her head in the plants and specification over her head in the plants and specifications. Suddenly the thought strike and only the plants are constituted and order to wear particular and order to wear particular as a common and man and order to be a comm to vote. Now the divernor has issued a long address to the people of the state in which he urges opposition to the decision by every means short of an appeal to arms. In the course of it he says:

People of South Carolina have always been law-abiding, and respect the constitution and courts of the United States. But when the judges of those courts of the third States, and only to invade and trample under foot the recognized right of our people guaranteed by the federal constitution, they have a right to assert themselves and maintain their sovereignty and independence. This they have ever done, and will continue to do, and will resist with all the means within their power the usurpation and tyranny of partisan politicians in high laces who disgence the indicial ermine.

We cannot, nor have we the desire to resort to arms to resist this unjust decrete, but we can and will exert the united efforts of a liberty-loving people to them to the wat the conspirators who are plotting to overthrow our civilization.  Under this decree the doors have been thrown open and the ballot placed in the hands of every man, white or black, of the age of 21 years.

Concerning South Carolina's loyalty and "respect (for the constitution and courts of the United States" it is not necessary to say much, for history speaks for itself, but the fact should be noted that it is not "this decree," but the respected constitution of our country, that places the ballot "in the hands of every man, white or black, of the age of 21 years." When that state attempted by her law to distinguish in favor of the whites and against the blacks in the whites and against the blacks in the malter of suffrage she deliberately defied the lederal governorms. the blacks in the matter of suffrage she deliberately defied the lederal gov-ernment, and nothing remains for that government except to enforce the funda-

It is the old ductrine of state rights cropping up under new circumstances, and notwithstanding South Carolina's proclaimed loyalty, the heresy has been particularly indigenous to soil. Always it resolves itself into the question whether this shall be a power-tal nation or a heterogeneous collection of powerless states, and always the good sense of the people answers it aright. It will be so answered in this case; peace fully no doubt, but so answered it will

Commenting on a statement that the police of this city are arresting men for smoking in the court house park, the Sac-ramento Record-Union says that we all this town "are getting consummately foolish" if the statement is true. The comment would be consummately just wer it not that the statement is absolutely No incident of the kind men untrue. No incident of the kind men-tioned has taken place here, nor is there any probability that it ever will.

RANDOM REMARKS.

When 'Prisso gets her streets repaired 'Twill everybody please; And yot one sustant throught will come: (I an abe correl her fleas?

The agitation for good streets continues in San Francisco. There is avery reason to hope that the city will mend its ways.

An exchange says that "Bill Nye is a man of very sober domesmor, and rarely cracks lokes outside of newspaper columns." It is but justice to Mr. Nye to say, too, that he has very rarely cracked a loke inside of a newspaper column in excent years, and he probably is not of one-half as sober demeaner as the people who read his contributions to carrent literature, the tendency of sociount-butions being in that direction. But Nye used to be very, very funny, he has merally worked out a vein which endures but a certain amount of working—the vein of humor.

Scarlet fever, pneumonis and typhoid fever are epidemic among the children in the Preston school of industry at lone, and flovernor Rudd has ordered a number of military tents to be sent to the school for the need for the patients. If he had ordered the sewer system of the institution to be attended to he probably would have come nearer to making a center shot. You may be sure that sanch a wrave condition of affairs is due to some equally grave defect in sanitary arrangements, and it is about equally cortain that the delect could be discovered and removed by a little attention. Under the present knowledge of the laws of health there is small excuse for such a slaughter of the innocents.

"More'n' more, as I git older, Marier," said Farmer Jaxon reflectively, "I notice that thore sin't no loss without some gain, es the widder woman said when her only cow died an' she sold its skeleton to a scapmaker. Take this cold snap, frinstanes, Marier. It's coder'n your marble feet when they land on the small of a feller's back in a day and an hour when he knows not neither can he etop'em, but hain't you observed that there sin't no perspirin' money maniacs 'round naw anxiously 'inquirin' et his is hot 'nough fer you?' That's the gain, Marier; that's the beautiful compensation that the parson was speakin' about las—Ouch! com't you drop a flation on this whole derned floor without hidla' my toe? It beats the—Marier, your argument's unanerable; there is come luesos that has no gain—louses of mind an' sense an' such things, Frinstance. I'm goin' out in the lot an'! dely you to drop a iron on me there." And Farmer Jaxon limoed out. imped out.

Herein is seen the practical side of the festival development in the state. La fiests is a time of genuine joy and cheer, but it is yet more: It is an advertisement to the world of the very things wherein California most excels; it truthfully says, Nature here smiles, and we smile with her. Be sure that the accounts of these festivities are read with deposet interest in teas or bundreds of thousands of eastern homes, and every account sows seed which shall at some time develop into increased population for the Golden State.

If Californians would set aside some life ground the deposet increased population for the Golden State.

If Californians would set aside some life if rem north to south and cast to west we would then display the bournies which nature bestows so lavishly upon us, we may be very sure that we would be triply repair for overy dollar of outlar at such a time. This is the state of states, a royal commonwealth in itself. The climote and the products of somebody has invented in general the interest in the state of states, a royal commonwealth in itself. The climote and the products of somebody has invented in general the state.

At last the idea has been evolved.

STATE RIGHTS ONCE MORE.

Governor Evans of South Carolina is drawing the color and state rights lines with a vengeance. A recent decision of a federal coart upheld—as it must have done—the constitutional right of male citizens of "1 years, regardless of color, to vute. Now the therenor has issued a long address to the people of the state in which he urges opposition to the decision by every means short of an appeal to arms. In the course of it he says:

Chinatown Gamblers.

Chinatown Gamblers.

There are once more rumure of in-ending bloodshed in Chinatown. The pending bloodshed in Chinatown. The foundation of the trouble is the old story—the lottery games. About two weeks ago a Chinman won $760 in a single drawing, but on presenting his claim for nayment he was put off with excuses, and finally payment was refused. The rival lottery companies hale the Chinese go chead and collect in the usual way, which is supposed to be with a six-shooter. The company thus threatened has armed its agents, and a search for concealed weapons in Chinatown would tell a lively table just how. concessed weapons in Chir tell a lively tale just now.

ORANGE AND LEMON TREES.

The Season is Not Too Late for

Planting,
Many people who would like to plant a few crampe or lemon trees this year are afraid to do so, thinking it too late; but this is a mistake. They can be planted any time during this month; in fact, the

any time during this month; in fact, the principal orders filled by our local nurserymen were within the bast two weeks, and time have many yet to fill.

It makes a person feel like planting a few trees of these varieties when at the stores he is asked from 30 cents to 40 cents per dozen for good Washington anyel orange. And we ought to be able to grow our own lemons at one tenth of what we pay for them at the stores. They are in great demand during the hong, hot summers.

People should grow their own if they can, It saves them money, and is more satisfactory in every way, besides keeping the money from going out of the rounty. Every one in the county would be better off today if in the past the iarmers had diversified their products, as they can do in this wonderful valley.
